

So, what exactly is choozmail®?

choozmail® is the only complete and comprehensive secure Internet communications solution (email, chat, voice) that was designed from the ground up and focuses on the family and children's safety and security.

- choozmail® is a service and a brand that stands for the security and safety of our kids;
- choozmail® is an insurance policy against the dangers that email and chat communications pose to children of all ages;
- choozmail® is a rules-based family communications solution offering email, chat and VoIP; and,
- choozmail® is an advocate for family values.

choozmail® can clearly demonstrate that today, parents can do little to combat insidious threats from bottom-line driven corporations and shady characters with criminal tendencies. Regrettably, parents lack the control and even, in some cases, the knowledge to police with whom their children are communicating. They are practically powerless and even worse, virtually helpless.

In the ever-changing world of technology, children today must master the skills of using computers and the Internet. For future professional and even social development, the Internet and email and chat are fast becoming required skills that will soon be as basic as the three "R's" were to past generations. Without this ability, they may be left behind as they attempt to pursue their goals and dreams in later life.

choozmail® provides families with the web-based tools and safeguards to navigate the Internet, through technology, in a safe and assured environment using rules-based parental controls and positive response technology.

How can choozmail® help?

choozmail® provides such fundamental tools as email and chat, and gives today's child the opportunity to embrace the future and explore while their parents can observe – seemingly from afar, but in truth, as close as the nearest web-based computer, secure in the knowledge that they have provided the best and most secure environment for their children, away from prying and immoral organizations and individuals that are looking only to satisfy themselves.

choozmail® allows kids and parents to experience the Internet without worry or shame.

choozmail® can explain and show in great detail the steps that need to be taken by parents to protect their loved ones.

Setting up choozmail® is remarkably simple and intuitive and a helpful wizard, Marlin, will guide you through the complete process. choozmail® can effectively inform parents that there is a means to control and administer every Internet communication exchanged by their children via email or chat – regardless of where their children are or whom they are with. Parents can take control and eliminate the terror from their kid's online experiences.

choozmail® is not about blocking web sites; it's not just web sites that parents and our kids need to be afraid of. Today, kids communicate effortlessly and often endlessly using email and chat. Does your provider allow you to personally take control of that? Now, quickly, easily and for pennies a day, as long as children use choozmail® from any computer – in the house, down the block at a friend's or even at the lake during summer camp, you can protect them! Do not leave your kids at the mercy of a faceless corporation to determine parental controls. Who knows your kids better? These companies cannot know the cultural backgrounds of all their subscribers so they "settle" for the lowest common denominator – and in doing so can often alienate and expose children to elements of the Internet that no parent would want their child to see.

Let's set up a scenario...

It's a beautiful summer evening in a typical neighborhood. A young family of four is sitting down to dinner. The dinner-time chatter is interrupted by the doorbell. The doorbell rings again and Dad opens the door. Standing before him are two complete strangers. "Do you have a daughter, Sir?" they inquire, smiling. "Is she home? Do you think that we could talk with her?" "Of course." Suzie walks to the door alone to meet with the strangers while Dad returns to the kitchen.

Sound far fetched? Of course it does! You would never, ever do anything remotely like that – deliberately and knowingly putting your child in harm's way. Would you?

But, if you and your family are not using choozmail®, that type of ridiculous yet inherently dangerous situation really could occur! Without choozmail®'s powerful rules-based parental control, you will never really know with whom your kids are communicating and what they are talking about. An innocent conversation with a new, online best friend just might be with a recently released from prison pedophile – or worse...
